What Lies Beneath?

What lies here beneath the willing emerald wrapping, accepting their collective realm?
What lies elsewhere beneath man's disguised demeanour, civil but deliberately divisive?

What lies here beneath the abundant enveloping eiderdown, slumbering peacefully together?
 What lies elsewhere beneath acceptable appearances, charming but prejudiced?

What lies here beneath the luminescent selfless sheath, accepting mutual benefit?
 What lies elsewhere beneath structural facades, faking friendship but murmuring malice?

What lies here beneath the verdant creeping coverlet, collectively enjoying comfort?
 What lies elsewhere beneath deceitful welcomes, smiling but spreading spite?

What lies here beneath the soothing snaking sleeve, insulated from harm by another?
 What lies elsewhere beneath undesired need, acknowledged but resented?

What lies here beneath the softest downy dress, sharing nourishment contentedly?
 What lies elsewhere beneath community spirit, concealed but festering?

Niki South is a visual artist born in England, now living in Pembrokeshire Wales. She creates photographs as metaphors for something beyond the subject represented in the image.

Her work is a personal response to landscapes, both internally and externally – In this work, combining the world in her head with the one in front of her, helped to heal some of the wounds that inspired the story's beginning.
